

THE Next Level Leadership training:

TREX: "Organizing and leading (primitive) Scouting camps"

WHAT IS TREX?

TrEx is a next-level training for experienced scouts and leaders. You will build on your skills, master new techniques and even complete your (Dutch) qualifications as 'Leader', 'Camping', 'Team leader' or 'Instructor Pioneering'. In addition, we check your personal qualities, technical skills and leadership style. We challenge you to give it your all physically and mentally, while working on self-reflection, perseverance and teamwork.

Oh, and we all do that while camping primitively: cooking on a wood fire, sleeping in a homemade shelter, and experiencing something new and challenging every day.

WHAT WILL YOU LEARN?

- Discovering and strengthening your personal qualities
- Taking scouting techniques to a higher level and implementing them
- Working safely with materials and in nature
- Recognize and apply leadership styles and team roles
- Persevering when things get tough (physically and mentally)
- Stimulate self-reflection and personal growth

WHAT WE WANT TO ACHIEVE?

We want to prepare you to organize and supervise a (primitive) Scouting camp in a responsible way as a staff member. To this end, we offer an intensive program full of cooperation, challenge (both physical and mental), responsibility and creativity.
